Hit And Run Driver Sought

A little Waveland boy was seriously injured Wednesday night when he was struck off his bicycle on the beach road by a hit and run driver. The boy, Steven Kidd, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kidd of Waveland, was riding on the beach near LaFitte Drive when he was hit by a brown and white car driven by a person who fled the scene. The boy sustained a broken right leg in several places. The child also suffered cuts and abrasions on the face and body. He has been taken to a hospital in New Orleans for treatment.

A reward is being offered by the Kidds for any information leading to the arrest of the person who hit Steven and left him lying in shock on the beach road. Steven told his father when he was taken to Hancock General Hospital, "Nobody cared. They just left me."

The Kidds reside at 113 Mollere Drive, Waveland.

Man's Body Found On Cat Island

The body of a man, identified as Lemmie D. Horton, a 55-year-old Slidell, La. resident who allegedly jumped to his death off the Bay St. Louis bridge January 15.

The badly decomposed body was discovered by two Long Beach men who notified the Harrison County sheriff's department. Sheriff's investigators said the body had apparently been on the beach for some time before being discovered.

Horton's father, Joe Horton of Converse, La. and his aunt, Carrie Henderson of Keathley, La. identified the body Monday in Gulfport after being notified by Bay St. Louis Police Chief Bill Carbonette.

Horton had been on his way to Gulfport with a friend, Thomas Crawford, Jr., also of Slidell, who told police that as they reached the middle of the bridge, Horton asked him to stop the car saying that he felt ill. Crawford told Horton then told him, "This is the end of the line," and leaped over the railing into the water. Crawford told authorities that he knew Horton only casually but knew of his reason for Horton's action. The search for Horton's body continued for several days but efforts were unsuccessful.

SEWERAGE BIDS

Waveland Mayor and Board of Aldermen accepted bids Tuesday night for the first phase of the city's $2.3 million sewerage system. Six firms submitted bids: Verda-Wilcox; Cox, Inc.; Pete Carroll Co.; Sullivan, Long and Hagerty; Don H. Sharp, Inc.; and Chappin USA.

All bids were taken under advisement.

Construction Underway For New CEHS Building

Despite a delay of over three years, Coast Episcopal High School will begin classes this September in one of the most modern complexes along the entire Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Originally it was planned to open the Episcopal High School in renovated and adapted buildings on the Simmons estate in Pass Christian in September of 1968.

Then, on August 17 came Hurricane Camille, the most devastating storm ever to strike the United States. When the twisting winds of the hundreds of hurricane-born tornadoes subsided, and the raging waters of the Gulf calmed, only a few debris marked the spot where the school was to have been.

The high school opened that September, but not in the quarters at Pass Christian. Instead, students were housed in hastily acquired trailers and repaired buildings in the Christ Episcopal Day School complex at 512 South Beach, Bay St. Louis. It is, however, in this complex that registrations are now being accepted for the new and ultra-modern high school, grades seven through twelve, which is located on a sprawling 37-acre tract on Easy Road, Pass Christian, some two miles from the beach.

Accommodate 300 students. Also included in the new complex is an athletic field house, baseball diamond, football field, swimming pool and tennis courts.

The change in locations will in no way change the overall educational direction of the school. The Reverend Charles R. Johnson, rector of Christ Episcopal Church remains headmaster, and Peter Palkogios, principal, Lower grades will continue to use the present complex behind the new Christ Episcopal Church on South Beach, Bay St. Louis.

Much of the credit for the new Pass Christian school must go to J.K. Byrne of Pass Christian, who accepted the role of Building Chairman. His brother, Dr. George Byrne, is on the Board of Trustees. Other Trustees include Guy Billings, Jr., Pass Christian; Leo Seal, Jr., Bay St. Louis; William Frisbie, Bay St. Louis; George Morris, Pass Christian; A. W. Cooper, Jr., Pass Christian; Mrs. A. P. Walker, Pass Christian; William L. Braun, Long Beach; George Holladay, Gulfport; W. Roderick Johnson, DeLisle and Gulfport; and Wallace Brown, Waveland. The architects are Fred Wagner of Bay St. Louis, and Hill & Simpkins Ltd., Gulfport. The general contractor is Roy Anderson, Jr.

That is the factual side of the story of the school in September. But behind that is the story of a young Episcopal priest who first came to Bay St. Louis in October of 1934. That young priest was Father Charles R. Johnson. The total physical assets of the church parish consisted of the tiny chapel-like church located on the beach at Carroll Avenue, and the rector's home, a small frame garage apartment dwelling located off Highway 90.

The church was designed to accommodate no more than 90, but on some Easter services as many as 150 were crammed into the church. The parish house was part of the church building and consisted of one large room. Yet it was in this same parish hall where Father Johnson outlined his plans for a school. At that moment his plans seemed little more than a dream but in 1950 the school was opened with one grade only in the parish house. Later it moved to the upper floor of the Masonic Temple building. Later the church acquired the Sellers home at 512 South Beach, and in September of 1961 the school moved to the carriage house back of the rectory. And year by year a new grade at a time was added until it became a full elementary school.

As the school grew and more and more students began coming from Hancock and Harrison counties came the idea for the establishment of Coast Episcopal High School across the bridge in Pass Christian.

Hurricane Camille not only destroyed the school buildings and the chapel but it also destroyed that tiny chapel in the bay. But all that changed in April of 1971 when a new church was dedicated at 512 South Beach, Bay St. Louis—a tiny but from 1940.

Civic Groups Support Jackson Ridge Project

Representatives of the Bay St. Louis Jaycees, as well as other civic organizations and interested citizens attended a Tuesday meeting of the county board of supervisors, to inquire into progress on the Jackson Ridge Park development.

James Necaise, Jaycee president, told the board that the organization was vitally interested in seeing that the park development was realized and extended the support of the Jaycees toward that end. Al Edwards, president of the Waveland Civic Association and member of Commerce

Board attorney Rubie Griffin explained that the only action remaining on the county's part was to send the State Park Commission corrected titles and deeds for the purchased land, along with a lease for 10-section land. Griffin said the documents would be in the mail that afternoon, which would complete all county obligation on the park project. The project will then be handled entirely by the state.

A discussion of the need for additional ballot boxes was brought before the board by Leo Seal, Jr., secretary of the Hancock County Democratic Executive Committee, and County Circuit Clerk Lamar Otis. Seal told the board that there was an insufficient number of ballot boxes available for the upcoming municipal elections and that the purchase of additional boxes may become a necessity. Otis said that 41 county boxes were being held by the federal government pending investigation and he felt if the boxes were opened without a decision by the state attorney general, "we'll have 41 chances of lawsuits." The only solution that he could see to the problem, Otis said, was for the county to purchase additional boxes. Seal estimated that about 30 boxes would be needed at an approximate cost of $450.

Board president Dolph Keller told both men that any solution they proposed would be agreeable to the board.

Mrs. Eve McDonald, local coordinator for the Area-wide Program for the Elderly, which is partially funded by the county under state-supervised federal grant, briefly outlined activities at the newly opened Senior Citizens Center in Bay St. Louis. She said that 62 senior citizens had attended the first planned activity at the Center Monday afternoon, and expressed deep gratitude to the supervisors for their aid in the project.

Supervisors Approve Port And Harbor Requests

Port and Harbor Director Michael Smith presented the board of supervisors with resolutions Tuesday requesting approval to advertise for bids for the operation of Bayou Caddy docking facilities.

Smith also requested approval to accept the new contract arrangement after extensive conference with other port authorities. The board approved action.

Supervisors also ratified a Port and Harbor resolution approving payments of 7,500 dollars on Contract 3 for the aircraft hanger and airport office building, and 5,500 dollars on Contract A-3 for railroad spur grading and drainage to Terry Feeny, prime contractor. The two payments represented retention monies owed on the contracts. In addition, assessed damages in the amount of 4,500 dollars was extracted from the contract price.

The Port and Harbor Shortline Railroad locomotive arrived in Hancock County, and supervisors were advised by Smith that repair costs for the locomotive amounted to $19,824. An additional charge of $1,275 has been brought for two General Electric technicians to make the on-site final assembly and checkout on the engine before it can be put into service at the Industrial park. Both charges were accepted by unanimous vote of the board. In an unrelated action, the board approved minutes for April, then adjourned until May 1.

Two Guilty In Prostitution Case

A Gulfport man and woman were fined $50 each and found guilty of soliciting for the purpose of prostitution by Justice of the Peace Joseph Dobson at a hearing last week. Cleveland Brown, Cheryl Brown, Valerie Williams and a 16-year-old juvenile girl were arrested by Hancock deputy sheriff March 20 at the Ramada Inn in Waveland, as they were allegedly soliciting motel guests for the purpose of prostitution. Acting on a call from one of the guests, the motel management notified authorities and filed charges against the four for soliciting and trespassing. An additional charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor was brought against the three adults.

The 16-year-old was turned over to Harrison County juvenile authorities and the others were released on bond. Revocation of charges was filed against the Brown woman who has been jailed in Harrison county on prior arrest for soliciting and theft.

At the April 19 hearing, Judge Dobson dismissed trespassing charges against Cleveland Brown and Valerie Williams as he said the offenses occurred in a public place. The charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor was also dismissed by Dobson, according to Mississippi Code Section 21, which places the age of a juvenile in such incidents as 14 or under.

The two defendants entered a plea of guilty to the charge of soliciting and were fined $50 each. Dobson warned, when imposing the fine, that if either appeared again in his court he would impose the maximum fine and penalty for whatever the charge might be.

Dobson granted a stay of execution for one week on paying the fine on the request of the defense attorney. Vernon Hammons, the Ramada guest who brought the original complaint against the foursome, and who was scheduled as a state's witness, gave the following written statement dated April 6 to the Ramada management:

"This is to certify that I am the person that notified the manager's office at the Ramada Inn (March 22, 1972) of the incident of two black girls soliciting, and attempting to gain entrance to my room. I am positively state that the personnel at the Ramada Inn gave their complete cooperation in the apprehension of the subjects."

In another matter, Chancery Clerk, John Rutherford advised supervisors that June 21 is the target date set to begin issuing food stamps, according to the director of the state food program. Rutherford added that all other arrangements for the implementation of the program had been completed.

Office spaces under construction in the Agriculture Bldg. are nearly finished, he added. The problem of another county sanitary land fill came for discussion at last four supervisors' meeting. (Hull) Zengarnick told the board that NASA officials at the last meeting had proposed that the land fill be located in the area of the old military base, but the community, but the community area was considered too close to the community. The board set May 3 as the date to meet with O. E. Bateson, Jr., NASA official, and mayors of Waveland and Bay St. Louis to discuss re-locating the land fill.

The chancery clerk presented the board with an inventory of old records found in the chancery court files, all of which are past time to be destroyed, according to state law. Although five years is the average period of expiration, most of the files were 10 to 20 years old and included cancelled bonds, chattel mortgages and the like. The board approved Rutherford's request to dispose of the expired records.

Insurance Coverage Expanded

The Federal Insurance Administration has advised Congressman Wm. M. Colmer of new facilities which are now eligible for flood insurance coverage. Originally the program covered only one to four family residential types of properties and was expanded to include small businesses. As of March 1, 1972, the program was expanded to include all residential structures as well as structures used for business, agricultural or religious purposes or which are occupied by private non-profit organizations or which are owned by State or local governments or agencies thereof.

The approved communities and areas in Mississippi for the Flood Insurance Program are: Hattiesburg, Gulfport, Pass Christian, Long Beach, Bay St. Louis, Biloxi, Jackson County, Waveland, Harrison County, Laurel, Pascagoula, Ocean Springs, Moss Point, Meridian and Columbus.

Individual firms or organizations interested in obtaining flood insurance should contact their local insurance agent.

NASA Administrator Visits Test Facility

By Adele Sherle, Echostar writer

Dr. James C. Fletcher, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said in Bay St. Louis Thursday that federal funding in the near future will place greater emphasis on environmental research and the manned lunar program.

Fletcher, on his way to the Manned Space Center in Houston, Tex., stopped Wednesday in Bay St. Louis for an inspection tour of the NASA Mississippi Test Facility here.

The NASA head said he was particularly interested in "the growth and progress of facilities for environmental investigations at the test site." In response to a question about the current Apollo space program, Fletcher agreed that the program "will be de-emphasized somewhat after December," but predicted that the program of lunar research coming up "is going to be enormous."

The Apollo 15 and 16 flights, he added, are essentially similar in concept but Apollo 17, scheduled for December, will be concerned with an intensive investigation of the moon's surface.

He was non-committal regarding the future of the space shuttle in the President's spending program, but reminded reporters that the shuttle's main engines will be tested at the test site, adding personnel to the site and increasing local revenues.

Regarding future development of the test site, Fletcher said expansion plans will be in line with those already begun, a program of growth in environmental research.

Area Senior Citizens Enjoy "Sing-Along"

The sound of music filled the halls of Valena C. Jones building Monday afternoon when the Senior Citizens Center held its first of scheduled weekly activities.

Monday's program was a most successful "sing-along" which was attended by 62 senior citizens who gathered in the large reception room to join in the program. Mrs. Fred Fisher, of Waveland was chairman of the day and lead the group in singing old familiar ballads. Mmes. Mayo duTrell and Elma Joubert served as piano accompanists.

A highlight of the event was the appearance of Nona Quatre et Un, a youthful folk singing group from St. Augustine Seminary.

Mrs. Eve McDonald, local coordinator for the Area-wide Model Program for the Elderly, which sponsors the Center, welcomed those attending and Mr. John Holthaus gave the invocation.

Refreshments were served by Center volunteer workers following the program.

Mrs. Dina Curvey is chairman of Senior Rec for the Center and has planned a different activity for every Monday afternoon from 1-3 p.m.

According to Mrs. Shirley Mattison, next week's chairman of the day, a community singing and display of needlework by a local group will be on the agenda Monday.

The Center is open to all senior citizens of the area, Mrs. McDonald said, and they are especially welcome to attend the planned activities.

"SISTER RUTH DAY"

WHEREAS St. Clare's School has for the past eight years provided superior education for many of the children of the City of Waveland and other portions of Hancock County and as such forms an integral part of the community life;

WHEREAS Sister Ruth Angelle, O.P., more affectionately known as Sister Ruth, has been the Principal of said school since it was first opened and as such has been in a large measure responsible for its success; and

WHEREAS on the day following Hurricane Camille, Sister Ruth did organize and lead a convoy of vehicles with food and medical supplies to the City of Waveland; whereupon the said Sister Ruth did proceed to organize and operate a medical aid and relief station and did work untiringly for many days in caring for the needs of many of the citizens of this community following this tragic event; and

WHEREAS the St. Clare's School was totally destroyed by Hurricane Camille and Sister Ruth immediately spearheaded a drive which resulted in providing for the educational needs of the children in temporary trailers and tents; and

WHEREAS the rebuilding of St. Clare's School has been in a large part due to the determination, energy and optimism of Sister Ruth; and

WHEREAS it is entirely fit and proper that due recognition be given to Sister Ruth for her devotion and assistance to the people of Waveland and Hancock County.

NOW THEREFORE by virtue of the authority vested in me as Mayor of the City of Waveland, I do hereby proclaim SUNDAY, APRIL 30, 1972 to be "SISTER RUTH DAY" in the City of Waveland as a token of esteem in which the said Sister Ruth is held by the citizens of the City of Waveland.

THUS done and signed this 24th day of April, 1972.

Complaints Cause Removal Of Basketball Equipment

As a result of numerous complaints from residents of the area, the Bay St. Louis Park and Playground Commission has temporarily removed basketball nets and rims from the goals at the public playground on Main and Necaise streets.

Ronald Artigues, Park and Playground Comm. chairman, said that he and other commission members had been receiving complaints from neighbors about obscene and offensive language used repeatedly by some of the older youths playing basketball on the playground.

At a recent meeting of the commission, steps to curb the problem were discussed. The final decision to temporarily remove the baskets was reached by unanimous vote of commission members. The three high school students who are also members of the commission were in full accord with the decision, Artigues said.

Children of all ages use this, as well as the numerous other satellite public playgrounds in the city, Artigues stated. The commission feels a responsibility, he said, to protect small children on the public playgrounds from unacceptable behavior as much as protection and maintenance of the parks.

The baskets will be returned at a later date, Artigues concluded.

Fire Department Offers Course

A course in Fire Investigation and arson is under way this week at the Bay St. Louis Fire Station, under the auspices of the Bay fire department.

The course, which runs two hours a night Monday through Friday, will cover all aspects of arson detection, investigation and court procedure. Classes are held in the Training Room of the new fire station on Old Spanish Trail.

The following subjects are covered: Fireman's role in arson detection, BSL Asst. Fire Chief Edward Friloux; establishing point of origin and determining cause, Long Beach Fire Marshal's office, Norman Coward Deputy Fire Marshal, Miss. State Fire Marshal's office; Bombs and incendiary devices, Officer Thomas Melghen, Long Beach Police Dept. and Miss. Coast E.O.D.

The course is open to all Coast area law enforcement personnel, according to Bay Fire Chief Richard Payard. Attending the course are members of fire departments in Waveland, Kila, East Hancock, Clermont Harbor, Pass Christian and Long Beach. Also taking the course are Waveland Marshal Fred Bourgeois, Bay Police Chief Bill Carbonette and Bay regular and auxiliary police personnel.

Certificates will be awarded Friday to those completing the course.

POLICE REPORTS

Bay St. Louis police department responded to 50 calls in the week of April 19 through 25.

Two trucks were slightly damaged Friday in a collision in the 800 block of Washington St. Investigating Ptn. Harris Bourdeaux and Alvin Favre identified the drivers as R.T. James and Luther Johnson.

Ptn. Emmett Ellis is investigating the theft of a boy's bicycle, reported by Watson Jones at 310 Carroll Ave.

Three runaway juvenile girls were found and returned to their homes by police.

get up a road block April 19 for out-of-state license plates, expired brake stickers and driver's licenses. According to Sheriff Sylvan Ladner, 20 drivers were ticketed within two hours for the above offenses.

Another 17 tickets were issued for similar traffic offenses Monday by deputies Fairley Necaise, James Ladner and Lathan Garriga.

The average salary of employees of the nation's 5,800 community hospitals increased by more than 80 percent between 1960 and 1970. One reason: it takes more highly skilled - and therefore more highly paid - people to bring advances in technical know-how to the patient's bedside.

Sixty cents of every hospital dollar must be allocated to wages and salaries.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, Our city is populated by men, women and children who are known as extremely faithful, dedicated citizens; and

WHEREAS, Such faithfulness is indicative of their appreciation of the merits of our way of life and their distinct desire to do their utmost to preserve our priceless heritage; and

WHEREAS, All loyal citizens should stand up and be proud that they are Americans and should make it clearly known to our foreign and domestic enemies that our democracy will long endure; now

THEREFORE, I, Warren Carver, Mayor of the City of Bay Saint Louis, do hereby call upon all my fellow citizens to take full advantage of the special occasion known as LOYALTY DAY, celebrated annually throughout the nation on the first day of May, as an incentive for every true American to reaffirm publicly his and her love of flag and country; and I do urge that all individuals, schools, churches, organizations, business establishments and homes within my official jurisdiction display proudly the flag of the United States of America and do participate in patriotic Loyalty Day activities which are to be co-sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, and others, on or near the first day of May, in this year, nineteen hundred and seventy-two.

Dear Editor:

I am trying to locate a friend of mine who has relatives in Bay St. Louis. I graduated from Jackson High School in Jackson, Alabama in 1944. My friend, Gerald Palmer Smith, also graduated at that time. He entered the University of Alabama after graduation but about a year later joined the Navy. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. Smith who lived in Dallas, Texas and I think later in New Orleans. "Gerry" mentioned that he had relatives in Bay St. Louis and I think that one might be a Doctor.

Since our Class of 64 will be having a reunion next year, we are trying to locate everyone. If anyone does know of Gerald Palmer Smith, please drop me a line with his new address. I would appreciate it very much.

Thank you,

Legislative Report

by EARL "BUCK" LADNER
STATE REPRESENTATIVE
HANCOCK COUNTY

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

The Mississippi Legislature is now in its final two weeks in the limited 125 day session. This past week the Senate worked long and late hours even into the weekend to meet certain deadlines.

After the highly controversial arguments about the location of the Hospitality Booth to be located on I-10 west of Hancock County, a bill was introduced in the Senate by Senator Martin T. Smith that would specify the locations of these sites. The bill also made it mandatory by law that prior to the location of such hospitality stations the State Highway Commission shall afford the opportunity for a public hearing in the county wherein such hospitality station is to be located, for the purpose of receiving testimony regarding the most feasible and advantageous location and at which hearing all interested persons may appear and present testimony in regard thereto. A notice of such proposed location shall be given in some newspaper published or having general circulation in the county wherein such hospitality station is proposed to be located. Should a public hearing be requested, notice by publication shall be given at least 10 days prior to the date upon which public hearing is to be held and written notice thereof shall likewise be given, within said time, to the governing authorities of all municipalities within such counties and the governing authority of such county. This bill was passed on the floor of the House by a vote of 117 to 0.

The legislature this week passed what has come to be known as the Public Stream Bill. Senator Martin T. Smith and Representative Lonnie Smith have been working for passage of this legislation for two years under a statute in which the public is barred from waterways which are not large enough to float a boat carrying 200 bales of cotton. Under the new law, as signed by the Governor Friday, all streams having an average width of 30 feet and depth of 3 feet for 5 miles for 90 consecutive days shall be open to the public for fishing and water sports. The new law will open many new waterways for public recreational purposes.

Saturday, April 29, I will be at Cher's Restaurant from 8 - 9 a.m. for those of you who would like to drop by for a chat.

THE ORGANIZED CHURCH OR WHAT'S IN IT FOR ME? - How far away have we wandered from the fundamental type of organization that Christ initiated as His "bride"? Sometimes I'm quite at a loss as to how some congregations can exist after being "dead" for so long and this ailment is not quarantined in any one denomination but is prevalent in all of them.

How far exactly have we strayed from the original church recorded in "The Acts of the Apostles"? (The very title of the book should give us some clue!) Some of the modern congregations are so inactive, that to "act" is to go to church once or twice a year and sleep

RENNIS L. BERNARD

Rennis Louis Bernard, 77, a resident at Waynesville, Ga. died Sunday at the Brunswick Hospital after an extended illness.

Bernard was born in Hancock County, Miss., and had been a resident of Waynesville for 40 years, coming from Cogdell, Ga.

He was a fourth degree past grand knight of the Knights of Columbus, a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, a member of the American Legion, president of the Okeanoke Rural Electric Membership Corp., a member of the Brantley County Forestry Board and a member of the St. Williams Catholic Church.

He was owner and operator of the Waynesville Naval Station Storage Co.
Bernard is survived by his wife, Agnes Swanson Bernard of Waynesville; four sons, Rene Louis Bernard of Valdosta, Ga.; Patrick Swanson Bernard of Washington, D.C.; Emile Anthony Bernard of the U.S. Air Force, Weisbaden, Germany; and twelve grandchildren.

The Rosary will be said at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the chapel of the Gibson-Hart-Durden Funeral Home.

Funeral mass was held at St. Williams Catholic Church with interment in the Brunswick Memorial Park Cemetery. Rev. Robert E. Baker of St. Williams Catholic Church will officiate. Military rites will be conducted at the graveside.

through a dry dissertation on a subject they might understand if they knew what the subject was.

Some congregations want a whole army of professional "nose-wipers" to take care of those "despicable" jobs such as rearing their children, giving a basket to the needy, visiting the jails, etc.

What exactly did Christ have in mind when He instituted the church? Was it a social club for the rich and retired, or was it a school for those who wanted to follow Jesus? Was it a nice place to go with a lot of good music, speeches, and programs or was it a meeting of the believers for worship (humbling oneself to God)?

Some congregations have so organized the church that they have organized Christ right out. People don't need elaborate social clubs with central heat and air and a paid speaker to talk on social injustice. You can join any number of five civic clubs if that's what you want. People need spiritual food and the only way to receive this spiritual food is by doing.

Don't get me wrong I'm not against organization in the church, we must beware, however, of what that organization can bring and be prepared to do as Christ would have us do in love, fellowship, growth and work.

LADIES AUXILIARY

A first meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Bay St. Louis Fire Department is scheduled for Friday night at 7:30 in the fire station, Valena C. Jones building. Bay Fire Chief Richard Fayard, who is organizing the new organization, has announced that all ladies in the Bay area are invited to join the auxiliary which will work in conjunction with the fire department.
Fayard also said that membership in the auxiliary is not restricted to wives of fire department personnel.

That many people from Hancock County and visitors from Jackson and Gulfport attended the annual Library in Waveland, although the mayor of Waveland did not attend, the mayor of Bay St. Louis did. The speaker of the evening was Robert McHugh, editor of the Gulfport Daily Herald, and William Gaudet of the Public Library system was chairman of the meeting. Many old friends and supporters of the Library together with members of the Mississippi Library Commission, the total numbering 135, were present.

One wonders why there were not more. A first class bingo game would have drawn a bigger crowd. When one considers the amount of knowledge disseminated through the Library during the past year to many times 138 people, young and old, it would seem normal that scores of these beneficiaries would have shown their appreciation and support of the Library by attending its annual celebration. It is like a well of information and culture erupting in a community and too people too indifferent and too concerned with commonplace matters to dip into the stream of benefits flowing unheeded through their midst.

Sometimes our concern with the history of this section is derogated. We were feeling sorry for the scoffers, the other evening as we drove around the bay and down the shore at Pass he said in his speech at the banquet: "The only frontiers in the world of books are those we raise for ourselves by the more satisfaction out of it poverty of our imaginations."

Social Security Information

Many persons think of social security benefits being payable only to those who reach retirement age. This is not correct. The social security program also covers those cases where a worker becomes disabled before reaching retirement age, advises Mrs. Anne E. Anderson, representative of the Gulfport social security office.
When a worker becomes disabled before age 65, he and certain other members of the family may be eligible to receive monthly benefits. If such a worker does become disabled, he or some member of his family should phone the nearest social security office to apply for benefits.
Mrs. Anderson also stated that in every case where a worker in the family dies, some member of the family should phone the social security office as soon as possible.

In both disability and death cases, payment may be made to wives or widows under 62 with minor children entitled to benefits. Children over 18 and unmarried, disabled children under 18 who become disabled before age 18, and to children age 18 to 22 if they are full-time students and unmarried.

Mrs. Anderson stated that, if possible, you should telephone your social security office before going in person. You will be told what proofs are necessary in connection with your claim. In most instances the entire claim can be completed by telephone. This will result in your receiving benefits much sooner. Use the telephone. Call your social security office regarding any questions about any part of the social security program. Your local social security telephone number is 866-1322.

through our appreciation of the exciting things that had happened along this shore. In days gone by, we remembered the landing of the British at the Pass and the fierce naval battle on Lake Borgne near Bay St. Louis, and the waters offshore became more than just a pretty scene and took on life and meaning; we could understand the depth of feeling in the poet's words, "Lives there a man with soul so dead, who never to himself hath said, 'This is my land, my native land?'"

History (after it has happened) is a combination of facts and imagination, a point which Mr. McHugh touched on when he said in his speech at the banquet: "The only frontiers in the world of books are those we raise for ourselves by the more satisfaction out of it poverty of our imaginations."

And while one's imagination can readily picture the sixteen little American boats out there on Lake Borgne exchanging rifle and cannon fire with a fleet of British vessels, the reality of the scene would be inaccurate unless the world of books had supplied the true facts.

We earnestly hope that the next annual Library banquet will be attended by twice 138 book readers who this coming year will take advantage of the mammoth store of knowledge and information awaiting them at their City-County Public Library.

Any written release given to the Echo for publication must be accompanied by the name and phone number of the person submitting the information. No release will be used without this information.

PINE RUST OR CANKER

Fusiform rust is caused by a fungus, Cronium fusiforme. It is one of the more serious diseases common in pine stands. It kills large numbers of seedlings and weakens and disfigures stems of larger trees. Lobloly and slash pine are highly susceptible to the disease. Longleaf pine is moderately resistant - shortleaf pine is highly so. Fusiform rust lives from year to year in the living bark of pine branches and stems; it causes spindle-shaped galls or depressed cankers which may exude lots of resin.

In March or early April, orange-yellow powder-like spores are produced on the galls or cankers. The disease is most conspicuous in this stage and causes much alarm among timber growers. These spores are carried by wind to young oak leaves. About 10 days later, small, yellow spots form on the under side of these leaves. They produce spores which infect other oak leaves. This infection shows up as small, dark hairs on the under side of the leaf. There are hundreds of "hairs" on one leaf. Spores from these "hairs" infect young pine needles or tender growth; most of the pine infection takes place in April. With temperatures between 60 degrees and 90 degrees F. and high humidity, infection is abundant.

Forestry Report

More intensive use of our forested acres, according to Mississippi Forestry Commission Forester Mike Hendry, will be necessary in the near future if we are to meet the needs of our wood-using industries and keep Mississippi growing.

"Mississippi's rapid industrial growth in the past several years has developed primarily from her timber resources. We have taken giant steps in the past to make this industrialization possible, but need to intensify our efforts even more if we are to continue growing," stated Forester Hendry.

Mississippi's timberland is diminishing, as more and more land is being cleared for urban use and other things.

The timbered acres of Mississippi are now producing at only about one-half of their potential. As our total acres continue to decrease, it becomes more and more important that we manage the remaining land to produce as much as possible.

Only through an accelerated production program can Mississippi hope to supply the raw materials necessary to keep her forest industries expanding. Mississippi Forestry Commission Forester Mike Hendry of Hancock County assures local timber growers that he is available to help solve any forestry problems which they encounter in growing more timber on their land. More trees mean money, jobs and prosperity for Mississippi citizens.

Construction Begins On PRC Vo-Tech Center

Construction has begun on the Pearl River Junior College Vo-Tech Center, Hancock County, situated adjacent to Gulf Central Airport-Stennis Field.

The vocational-technical training school will be administered by Pearl River Junior College, which finalized plans for the school June 1971, in cooperation with Hancock County supervisors and the Port and Harbor Commission.

At that time Port and Harbor commissioners donated 11.8 acres of airport land for the school facility and the board of supervisors passed resolution for the levy of one mill as the county's share of the operation.

Marvin White and Thurman Alley, President and Director of Vo-Tech Education at PRC outlined plans for the trade school on a visit to Hancock County last June.

The training center, expected to cost $700,000, will be open to both high school students and adults and will offer day and evening courses in vocational and industrial arts. Alley said that subjects to be scheduled initially will include automobile mechanics, body repair, welding, masonry, air conditioning, refrigeration engineering, metal trades, plus business sciences and licensed practical nursing.

Present plans are for day students to attend tuition-free, but evening students may have to pay a materials fee, prorated over the entire course.

Branch Construction Co. of New Orleans is prime contractor for the school building.

FIRE REPORT

DO GO NEAR THE WATER!

The Bay St. Louis Fire Dept. responded to two fire calls in the past week.

Friday at 7 p.m. a woods fire was reported behind Bay Senior High School. Duty fireman Al Arnold answered the call and was assisted in extinguishing the blaze by Volunteer Fire Chief James Rutherford, Volunteer Donny Freeman, Robert Andrews, Radioman Billy Purley, Chief Richard Fayard and Asst. Chief Ed Firloux.

A fire which started in an electric stove caused considerable damage to the kitchen of the Joseph Pernicelli residence at 805 Spanish Acres Drive Sunday. Firemen received the call at 2:55 p.m. and were able to confine the blaze to the kitchen area. Duty fireman Al Arnold and Robert Andrews reported damage to a refrigerator and smoke and fire damage to kitchen cabinets. Asst. Chief Ed Firloux estimated cost of damage at $500.

Along with the benefits of modern civilization, man has also had to take on a few of its drawbacks, such as constipation. Primitive people did not suffer from this problem, two physicians who studied 2,500 cases over a 10-year period reported in The American Journal of Clinical Research.

The authors link constipation to our sophisticated living patterns which have led to the omitting of meals, or taking them at irregular hours, inadequate intake of water, lack of exercise, poor bowel habits, and emotional disturbance. They report that patients who took Laxal, a lemony-custard flavored liquid, relieved distress due to constipation by eliminating trapped gas prior to producing a mild but positive cathartic effect.

Students Choose City For Spring Cleanup

In homes all over the nation women are going through the throes of spring cleaning, but for four housewives in Bay St. Louis, spring cleaning is a considerably more ambitious project. They set out to spring clean the entire city!

The Bay St. Louis Cleanup Committee, composed of Mmes. William Hilliker, Paul Vegas,

H.L. Robinson and Peter Benvenuti designated April Spring Cleanup month and to really get the ball rolling, on Friday they accomplished a precedent setting feat. Through their efforts, ALL public, private and parochial schools in the city were closed half a day as first through 12th grade students and teachers turned out to clean the streets of Bay St. Louis. Administrators of Bay Junior and Senior High Schools, North Bay Elementary, St. Stanislaus, Our Lady of the Gulf and Christ Episcopal Day School, cooperating with the cleanup ladies' requests, closed schools at 1 p.m. and sent the kids out on the streets.

Friday afternoon the streets of Bay St. Louis were literally crawling with school children of all ages and sizes, attacking litter and trash, bagging and piling it to be picked up by city trucks.

First through sixth graders were set to work on their own school grounds and the older students, organized in work parties, went father afield according to a carefully laid out schedule.

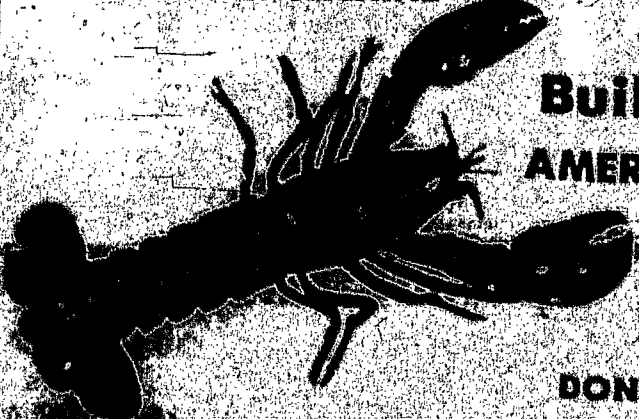

One mother watching in amazement as her teenager toiled happily with his companions, said wistfully, "I can't get him to take out the garbage at home."

Good Psychology

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF GROWING UP

It's said that teenagers are at the awkward age—yet some teenagers, in manner and bearing, are clearly adults while others are still children. What makes the difference? Leading psychologists say—you do!

One of the ways a child will develop self-esteem is to be treated by his parents with respect and consideration. As Marguerite and Willard Beecher have noted in their lively book, Parents On The Run: "The manner in which we live with children is what teaches them, not what we tell them." In addition to approaching the adolescent child in a way that imparts these feelings of self-respect to him, parents should be interested in, and sensitive to, the problems which are special to him.

As he moves from childhood, it becomes very important for the teenager to feel independent and to be "one of the group." This need for the group, which most teenagers have, may be both puzzling and annoying to parents. Why? Because parents often see the demands of the group becoming more important than their control and influence over their child. The solution is: don't fight; join in.

For further insights into the problems of rearing children and parents' responsibilities, please write for a pamphlet of one of my sermons of "The Lutheran Hour" to: Room 220, Lutheran Laymen's League, 2185 Hampton Avenue, St. Louis, Mo. 63139.

Pastor-Blaise Exchange Vows

Miss Kathi Ann Blaise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Blaise Sr., of Bay St. Louis, became the bride Saturday of Bruce Michael Pastor, son of Mrs. Ramona Ott of Jacksonville, Florida, at a Nuptial Mass at 2 p.m. in Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

Very Reverend Gregory Johnson, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony before an altar adorned with arrangements of white flowers and candles.

Mrs. John McKenna, organist, played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Our Lady of the Gulf junior choir who rendered a selection of appropriate numbers during the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white lace over peau de soie fashioned on Empire lines with high neckline and long narrow sleeves, ending in a puff. Pale blue ribbon outlined the neck and waistline. She wore a pale blue ribbon in her hair and carried a cascade of white sweetheart roses, daisies and baby's breath.

Miss Maria DiBenedetto, Bay St. Louis, was maid of honor. The bride's sisters, Misses Toni Ann and Jude Ann Blaise, and Misses Debbie and Denise Benvenuti, cousins of the bride, were bridesmaids.

Another sister, Miss Kathi Ann Blaise, was junior bridesmaid. Miss Cristy Lynn Kline, niece of the groom, served as flower girl.

They wore pale blue flocked dotted Swiss floor-length dresses styled on princess lines with matching ribbons in their hair and carried baskets of white daisies and baby's breath.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the American Legion Home. The bride's table, flanked by tall baskets of white flowers, was overlaid with white satin and net trimmed with garlands of smilax and daisies.

The five-tiered cake in the center was trimmed with a cascade of white spun sugar daisies and pale green leaves. Fern encircled the bottom tier and the top tier held a silver loving cup.

Arrangements of daisies and fern, completed the table decorations.

Mrs. Blaise received their guests wearing a pale blue lace A-line dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white rose buds. The mother of the groom chose a yellow flowered organza dress, matching accessories and a white rose bud corsage.

Miss Inez Favre, assisted by Mrs. T. A. Monti, cousins of the bride, presided at the cake table and Mrs. Leslie E. Blaise Jr. kept the bride's register.

Following a wedding trip to New Orleans, the couple left Wednesday for San Diego, Calif., where the groom is stationed with the U.S. Navy.

Miss Janet Hockert Weds Robert Driegert

St. Michael and All Angels Episcopal Church, Dallas, Texas, was the setting at 4 p.m. Saturday, April 22, for the wedding of Miss Janet Louise Hockert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester E. Hockert, Indianapolis, Ind., and Robert Stephen Driegert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Driegert of Long Beach, Miss. Rev. Donald Henning performed the single ring ceremony. Baskets of flowers flanked the altar.

Mrs. Richard J. Hockert of Dallas was her sister-in-law's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Susan Boggs and Miss Karen Meneley of Dallas. Capt. Michael Wims, U.S.A.F., Jacksonville, Ark., was best man. Groomsmen and ushers were Steve Bartlett, Bill Nikolls, Jim Hockert, John Hendrik, all of Dallas, and Robert Hockert, Indianapolis, Ind.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of peau de sole with antique lace overlay, fashioned with traditional sleeves high neck and princess waistline. Roses and baby's breath held her floor length veil of illusion and she carried a white Bible with a single white rose.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Fountain Room of the Fairmont Hotel in Dallas.

The couple was assisted in receiving by their mothers and the bride's attendants.

Mrs. Hockert chose for the occasion a formal gown of yellow silk and chiffon and the mother of the groom wore a floor length green silk dress. For traveling the bride chose a white polyester dress with blue and red paisley print jacket and blue accessories.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Jamaica the couple will make their home in Richardson, Texas.

Attending the wedding from the Gulf Coast were Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Driegert, Long Beach, Miss., and Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Watjus and daughter Cindy of Moss Point.

Miss Chapman Will Wed Gerald Von Antz

Mr. and Mrs. Russell W. Chapman of Bay St. Louis announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Jane Chapman, to Gerald William Von Antz, son of Mrs. Geraldine Chiarello Von Antz of Waveland, Miss., and Mr. Albert Harrison Von Antz of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Miss Chapman is a 1969 graduate of Bay Senior High School. She attended Mississippi State College for Women for two years, and is now a senior at the University of Southern Mississippi where she is majoring in elementary education. Miss Chapman made her debut in the Gulf Coast Debutante Society in 1970.

Mr. Von Antz is a 1968 graduate of Bay Senior High School. He attended Jeff Davis Junior College and graduated from the University of Southern Mississippi where he majored in political science and minored in Russian. He is a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity and a Dean's List scholar. He is presently serving in the United States Naval Aviation Corp as an officer cadet stationed in Pensacola, Fla.

The wedding will be held at the First Baptist Church in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, on Saturday, June 3, at 5 p.m. A reception will follow at the church.

"I AM AN AMERICAN!"

I AM AN AMERICAN

Listen to my words,
Listen well, for my country is a strong country,
And my message is a strong message
I am an American, and I speak for democracy.

My ancestors have left their blood on the green at Lexington and the snow at Valley Forge

... on the walls of Fort Sumter and the fields at Gettysburg

... on the waters of the River Marne and in the shadows of the Argonne Forest

... on the beachheads of Salerno and Normandy and the sands of Okinawa

... on the bare, bleak hills called Pork Chop and Old Baldy and Heartbreak Ridge.

A million and more of my countrymen have died for freedom ...

My country is their eternal monument ...

They live on in the laughter of a small boy as he watches a circus clown's antics

... and in the sweet, delicious coldness of the first bite of Peppermint ice cream on the Fourth of July.

... in the little tenseness of a baseball crowd as the umpire calls "Batter up!"

... and in the high school bands rendition of "Stars and Stripes Forever" in the Memorial Day parade

... I am an American, the proudest words a man can utter.

Easy Oven-Made Banana French Toast

There's a new Dole brand banana on the market wearing an eye catching tear shaped, red and white label. This new banana is actually that famous top quality Cabana banana improved by better growing and handling techniques. Some of the techniques that are being put to work to improve on nature's product are: scientifically tested trimming of more processing stations for fewer fruit bruises and doubling and washing tanks for turning out bananas that are beautifully clean and fresh.

In the tropics, computers are working to ensure quality fruit at harvest. From tiny plant to mature fruit, the computer now evaluates everything about the banana from the nutrients in the plant's soil to the amount of rainfall it has had. As a result, the new banana is sweeter, tastier, and smoother textured.

Some of the techniques that are being put to work to improve on nature's product are: scientifically tested trimming of more processing stations for fewer fruit bruises and doubling and washing tanks for turning out bananas that are beautifully clean and fresh.

EASY OVEN MADE BANANA FRENCH TOAST
Banana Maple Sauce:
4 Dole bananas
1/2 cup maple flavored syrup
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

2 eggs
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 slices white bread

Beat eggs until foamy; stir in milk, sugar and salt. Dip bread in egg mixture; let stand until all liquid is absorbed. Place in buttered shallow baking dish. Bake in 300°F oven for 5 minutes. Turn toast; bake 3-5 minutes more or until golden brown.

Meanwhile, peel bananas, slice lengthwise, place in another shallow baking dish. Pour syrup over; sprinkle with cinnamon. Bake in 300°F oven the last 5 minutes the toast is baking. Place on platter; top each piece of toast with 1/2 banana; spoon syrup over all. Makes 4 servings.

Honey Peach Muffins

Feeling the urge to return to basics? Satisfy that longing with Honey Peach Muffins.

Bread is basic — as old as civilization. These muffins team with honey and fruit for a wholesome treat. Sweetened with honey and loaded with golden nuggets of fruit, they will live up to any breakfast, especially for those problem eaters who often skip that important first meal.

Honey Peach Muffins are a nice way to end the day, too. Split them and fill with billows of whipped topping, and you have a dessert. You can stir practically anything into a muffin — chopped nuts, fruits, spices, herbs, crumbled bacon, what-have-you. At the same time, you'll serve the basic nutrition needs of your family, too. Enriched flour contributes the B-vitamins — thiamine, niacin and riboflavin — and the mineral, iron — all nutrients needed for good health everyday.

12 muffins

2 cups enriched flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup dry yellow peaches, drained and finely sliced

3/4 cup milk
1/4 cup honey
1 egg, beaten
1 tablespoon oil
Whipped topping, optional

Stir together dry ingredients. Add peaches to flour mixture and toss to mix. Combine milk, honey, egg and oil. Add liquid all at once to flour mixture, stirring only until flour is moistened. Fill greased muffin cups 2/3 full. Bake in preheated 425° oven 20 to 25 minutes or until done. Serve warm with whipped topping, if desired.

*Spoon flour into dry measuring cup, level. Do not scoop.
NOTE: If self-rising flour is used, omit baking powder and salt.

Fishing is getting better all the time. Bass and perch are being caught in most streams. Speckles are appearing up Jordan River, a few caught out front from Cedar Point to Bayou Caddy, along with other salt water fish, croakers, red fish, flounders, etc.

Soft crabbing and flounder fishing is not too hot as yet. A few flounders are being speared. Frogs are plentiful in most lakes and in small pot holes along county roads. Croakers are not bull ones but of good size. Soft shell crabs are at a loss as to why there are no crabs. Should improve on the next change of the moon, in our way of thinking.

Soft crabs are usually at their best in March and April. Hard crabbing should also get better. Turkey hunting ended Sunday. Didn't hear of too many being killed. Probably haven't gotten the right dope yet. Turkey hunting is a high type of hunting and those killing the proud strutting birds must know their stuff when it comes to stalking and calling them. There are quite a few turkey hunters in Hancock County and Devil's Swamp is a haven for the prized birds.

Speaking of turkey hunters Federal Judge Dan M. Russell, Jr. is one of our best. The judge doesn't spend all of his time sitting on the bench. He informed me that he got a 20-pound gobbler with a 10-inch beard one day last week in Alabama. Dan also hunts deer. He accounted for two big bucks, a 10-pointer and a 9-pointer, also in Alabama during December. Says a Federal Judge gets lucky every now and then. Dan has been one of our local hunters and fishermen for years. He enjoys both sports and goes on every occasion. You should be justly proud of the turkeys and deer, Dan. Keep up the good work.

"Another happy fellow was John Scatfield, Jr. He caught a 10 lb. 9 oz. bass recently in a pond near Ole Miss where he is attending school. The big one usually get away. But not this one, said John. I had him mounted.

Met two more Hattiesburg business men over the weekend. They are Leo Sellers (Rudy Baylis) and Fred Horne. They were down at Pearl River doing some fishing. Both are ardent fishermen and love catching perch and bass in that neck of the woods, especially in Pearl River and tributaries.

Archie Diebold and Al Champayne of Waveland enjoy their fishing. Go occasionally, they said.

Was a pleasure meeting Alvin Friserson a game warden with the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission. Alvin was patrolling Pearl River in the line of duty. Pretty good game warden, too.

Having a ball catching perch and croakers one day last week were Neil Oliver, Mary Waltman, Helen Complich and Pope Seuzeneau. Pope said he did his share catching them but the girls did their share cooking them for a fish fry.

Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes doesn't claim to be a sportsman but is really one. Mrs. Holmes still commutes to New Orleans each day and operates her own business. Rides the bus now instead of the old commuter train on which she traveled for years. Mrs. Holmes is 83 years young. Isn't that wonderful?

Two former residents F.A. Benz and Mary (his wife) were visiting friends at the Bay. They now live in Pascagoula but formerly had a home on Jordan River. Enjoyed a chicken dinner with Norman and Louise Complich. Glad to be in the old neighborhood, they claimed.

Coming up next is the St. Stanislaus Sideline Club's annual Fair to be held Saturday night.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK
JESSIE BENNETT is well known hereabout. Jessie is another old-time hunter and fisherman and a past master at telling jokes. Still loves to still fish for bass and perch. Has caught plenty during his life time especially down Ansley way.

and Sunday, May 6 and 7th on the school grounds. Fun, games, excitement for the young and young at heart. Attend and mingle with all the old sports that will be there.

Dick Mastey, Dick, Jr. and Yours Truly made a nice catch of bass Saturday up Pearl River. Dick, Jr., topped the day by catching a 3-pound bass.

A new fishing spot is in the making. Clark M. Hoffpauer, director of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, announced this week that an artificial shell reef designed to produce a greater concentration of game fish in one area is being laid along the north shore of Lake Pontchartrain between the mouth of Bayou La Loutre and "Pond Platte".

Survey stakes are being set and buoys furnished by the St. Tammany Sportsman's League will be placed in position on either side of the reef, and the entire operation should reach completion soon.

Hoffpauer asked that sportsmen and fishermen cooperate with officials in seeing that the survey stakes are not removed. Once completed, the reef should attract trout, sheephead, drum, croaker, flounder, and many other species of game fish.

The site is easily accessible to all fishermen, yet is still in the confines of the Lake Pontchartrain sanctuary.

Big argument settled: A bill to open to public use hundreds of miles of small streams in Mississippi which now are legally closed to recreation by an 1896 law, Monday won passage in the House, 58-50.

Passage of the measure, already approved by the Senate, follows a dramatic attempt launched two years ago by a group of conservationists in Pearl River County to demonstrate the antiquated law which bars streams from public use.

The House defeated a bill in the 1971 session to make a new definition of streams for public use after the Senate overwhelmingly passed the measure. The measures have been pushed by members of the Pearl River County delegation. An 1896 law opens to the public only navigable waters which are defined as "flowing waters 25 miles in length... and have sufficient depth and width for 30 consecutive days in the year for floating a steamboat with carrying capacity of 200 bales of cotton." by W.F. Minor Times-Picayune.

Green trout and perch are being caught right now in Pearl River proper anywhere from Logtown up to Waveland. The water is perfectly clear and the fish are being caught on the fly rod, by casting and by still fishing. First time the river has been clear this year. Those will be good fishing from now on in this area. If you don't have your own boat one can be rented at Roy Baxter's camp at Logtown, near the excellent fishing territory.

If you like to eat crawfish (crawfish) and want a place to go, the Breaux Bridge, Louisiana biennial Crawfish Festival will be held next Saturday and Sunday, April 29th and 30th. It will be a nice trip for the whole family. Camping facilities are provided along the bank of Bayou Teche. There will be a good time "on de Bayou, yeah!"

Meeting game wardens regularly in the Pearl River area. The latest one is Larry Mickenheim of the La. Wildlife and Fisheries Commission. Larry is a swell guy and only doing his job. Cooperate with the game wardens, it simplifies things a whole lot.

It was reported that Sheldon Seuzeneau and Nickie Kingston caught 14 speckles off Telegraph Key Saturday. They averaged 2 1/2 pounds each. Speckles must be moving this way. About time.

Did you know that when fishing from any size boat there should be a coast guard approved cushion on board for each person. Checking is being enforced and a penalty can be imposed by those violating this law.

PARTY GIVEN
Tommy and Tammy Seuzeneau celebrated their third and first birthdays April 9 with a party at the home of their parents Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Seuzeneau.

The Mickey Mouse theme was used in the decorations and on the cake. Guests were Lawrence Favre, Chris and Chad Robertson, Kevin Maurigh, Andi and Helene Lozano, Mark and Michael Seuzeneau, Kelli and Kerri Kingston, Connally and Rob Compretta and Julie Rutherford, his grandmother and aunt, Mrs. Margaret Nelson and Mrs. Nan Robertson, Mrs. Nicky Kingston, Mrs. Bobby Compretta, Mrs. J.D. Rutherford III and Mrs. Tommy Moran.

OFFICERS ELECTED
A covered dish supper was held by members of the Ladies Auxiliary of World War I Veterans during a meeting at Back Bay fire station, Blvd. The Coast Bunkers Barbecue donated a baked ham for the occasion. Mrs. Stella Bush was re-elected President of the organization. Others chosen to lead the group were Genevieve Cole, senior president; June Mayton, junior president; Elsie Philpot, treasurer; Nan Bertucci, chaplain; and Clara Walker and Merrie Williamson, trustees.

Delegates and their alternates were selected to attend.

Miss Williams Completes Training

Thelma J. Williams, 17, daughter of Mrs. Bertha Williams of Bay St. Louis, successfully completed her phase of training as an assistant nurse at Tongue Point job Corps Center. On May 2, 1972, she will transfer to the JCVW Extension Residence Program in Worcester, Mass., for on-the-job training in her field prior to her graduation from Job Corps. Miss Williams arrived at the Center on Oct. 27, 1971. While at Center, she received 5 Glass Attendance awards and 5 Honor Roll awards.

Tongue Point is operated by the University of Oregon under a contract with the Manpower Administration of the U.S. Department of Labor. Vocational training is provided in Nurse Aid, Food Services, Hospitality Services, Electronics Assembly and Business and Clerical occupations. In addition to job-skill training, the Job Corps program includes remedial education and personality development.

The Job Corps is available to disadvantaged young men and women between the ages of 16 and 21. There is a current enrollment at the Center of 730 young women.

SQUADRON MEMBER
Navy Seaman Henry L. Develle III, son of Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Develle Jr. of 222 Farrar Lane, and husband of the former Miss Jo Gale Marks of 300 S. Beach, all of Waveland, Miss., is a member of the Attack Squadron 135 aboard the attack aircraft carrier, Kitty Hawk, home-ported at San Diego and now operating in the Gulf of Mexico with the Seventh Fleet.

FOLK MUSIC Comes to Bay St. Louis-National Library Week at the City-County Public Library included a special musical program for the weekly story hour—presented by Nona Quatre at Un, a local singing group from St. Augustine Seminary.

INFANT BAPTIZED
Following the christening a family gathering was held at the Hilliker home. Attending were Mrs. Huey Dawn, Cory and Joel, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DiMarco their son Joseph Jr. and daughter Yvonne, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ward and children Troy and Tammy, all of Westwego, maternal grandmother, Mrs. E.G. Dupont, Lakeshore and Tracy's sister, Theresa, and brothers Gordon L. Jr. and Daniel Thomas and Randy Joseph.

Starting school is a major social event in everyone's life. No matter how much attention has been given to preparation for school, it is still a great change to leave one's family and spend six to eight hours a day in new surroundings with new demands and many different people.

If a child's relationship at home with his family is warm and happy, he has a very good chance of making an easy and pleasant adjustment to school life. Occasionally a family may be happy in its own relationship but may not provide enough outside social contacts to enable a child to feel comfortable outside the family. If we want our children to fit comfortably into the world in which they are going to live we must remember that their social values will be achieved in great part from our example. Knowing what children are like at different ages helps in understanding their development of social maturity. A child who has been encouraged to accept gradually increasing responsibilities and to participate in group activities in keeping with his age and maturity will have an easier time adjusting to school life.

Learning such things as how to dress himself, including using buttons and zippers and shoelaces, and how to take himself to the bathroom, can be of great importance in preventing embarrassment at school. Sometimes if a child is the oldest child in his family his parents may not realize that he is as capable of doing things for himself as he really is. Sometimes a child with several older children in the family will not get as much attention in learning to do things for himself because someone is always there to do things for him. And sometimes, particularly when children have older parents, they may have had limited experiences because their parents have been over-protective and over-anxious about their children's safety.

By the time a child is ready to begin school he should be able to dress himself, go to the bathroom alone and without help, go about his immediate neighborhood unattended, and play cooperatively in small groups of children his own age. It is helpful if he has learned that he cannot have immediate attention at all times and that he will sometimes have to wait his turn in doing things. Children who have not learned this will often feel hurt when they are in a class with twenty-five other children and one teacher who cannot provide individual attention to each child just exactly when the child wants attention.

This is the last of a series of articles concerning school readiness. Next will be a comparison of some contemporary educational philosophies.

Band Will Present Awards Concert

The St. Stanislaus High School Band will present its annual Awards Concert on Friday, May 5, at 7:30 p.m. in the Resource Center of the school. The general public is invited to attend and enjoy the band's selections which include traditional band music and a selection of popular music. Kids Show Enthusiasm For Junior Police Bay St. Louis police were outnumbered seven to one April 26 when 49 youngsters converged on the police station, Helena C. Jones building for a first meeting of the Junior Police Association.

An encouraging turnout of boys and girls, ranging in age from 10 to 17, filled the station waiting room to hear Police Chief Bill Carbonette describe plans for the newly formed and very unique Junior Association. Regular policemen and auxiliary members will assist with the program, Carbonette said, which is essentially to train association members for participation in law enforcement.

Carbonette told the group that they will be considered an integral part of the police department and as such will receive training and be given responsibilities in line with community protection. Each member will ultimately be uniformed, wear JPA badges and carry a card, just as regular members of the force. He said it may take a while before money is available for badges and uniforms as the city can't be expected to bear the financial burden; however, cards will be issued right away for membership identification.

An equally important facet of the program, Carbonette emphasized, will be recreational activities and facilities for members only. The gymnasium, situated within the police station will be reserved for JPA use every day, and for planned events such as dances, band concerts, basketball and volleyball games.

The gym will be open every weekday from 4 to 6 p.m. and Saturdays from 1 to 6 p.m. While he is seeking funding for uniforms and other necessities, Carbonette said he has plans to have a pool table, juke box and game equipment in the gym.

Although the gym, which has been unused for more than three years, was pretty musty, when Carbonette opened the door for the juniors' inspection, kids poured in all directions like a flock of birds let out of cages.

Within a few minutes, a fast basketball game was going with Emmett Ellis and Douglas Williams bobbing in and out of the crowd playing. Most of the girls who lived in the neighborhood ran home and returned with brooms and mops to clean up the layers of dust and accumulated trash. Ptn. Harris Boudreaux and Alvin Farve reluctantly left for patrol duty as Carbonette stood in the middle of the gym murmuring something about getting a professional cleaning job on the gym sooner than he expected.

The next meeting is scheduled for Saturday, 10 a.m. at the police station. All members and any others wanting to join are urged to attend, the chief said.

BAY POLICE CHIEF Bill Carbonette talks to Junior Police Association members at a recent meeting in the police station. The first meeting brought together 50 city boys and girls who had signed up for the program, the first of its kind in this area. Besides training lectures and seminars, a full program of recreational activities will be scheduled for members, under the auspices of the police department. The next meeting will be Saturday, 10 a.m.

Members Will Attend Convention

Eight members of the Bay-Waveland Junior Auxiliary will attend the Junior Auxiliary's National Convention in Memphis, Tenn. May 3-7. They will stay at the Rivermont Hotel where each member will be attending workshops and business meetings as scheduled by the National Association.

Voting delegates to the convention from this chapter will be: Mrs. William Frisbie, immediate past president; Mrs. Waldo Dearing, president; and Mrs. Joseph Gex, projects chairman.

Other members to attend are: Mrs. Nicholas Haas, Mrs. Thomas W. Kidd, Mrs. David Johnson, Mrs. Robert Wyatt, and Mrs. Travis Hensley. Mrs. Travis Hensley has recently been appointed as National Junior Auxiliary Finance Chairman.

Pearl River Jr. College sent several representatives from the college to speak on Data Processing, Teaching, Welding, Auto Mechanics, Physical Education and Music.

HOME OF THE WEEK chosen by the Bay St. Louis Cleanup and Beautification Committee is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schindler on Green Meadow Road.

GREETING SERVICE

Mrs. D. O. Bryan has been named the new hostess for the Newcomer Greeting Service in Bay St. Louis. The service will give newcomers to the community information on churches, schools, shopping centers and service, civic and welfare organizations. For information on the greeting service, contact Mrs. Bryan at 467-3435.

TALK OF THE MARKET

Avoid Livestock Payment Problems With These Five Rules

If there is anything worse than not getting paid enough for your livestock when you market, it's not getting paid at all. While "failure to pay" problems are the exception rather than the rule in the livestock industry, they do happen to the tune of some $10 million over a recent five year period. And when it happens to you, the results can be devastating. In the case of buyer bankruptcy, you may never be paid at all, or, at best, paid only a few cents on the dollar.

You can avoid non payment problems by following a few simple rules when you sell livestock. According to United Livestock Market's sales experts in West Fargo, Sioux Falls, Sioux City, St. Joseph, Indianapolis, St. Paul and Milwaukee. They offer these points:

Know your buyer. If you don't know him personally, at least check out his financial situation with his banker. Don't get into the credit lending business. Beware of the buyer who asks you to extend credit or hold a post-dated check.

Beware of the over-anxious buyer -- the one who attempts to rush you into a decision, offers you more than your livestock is worth, or is buying everything in sight.

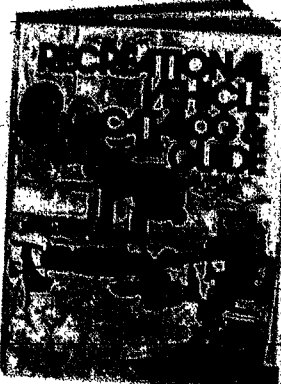

Protect yourself by dealing with a market agent or a bonded order buyer. Statistics show that most "failure to pay" problems arise with packer buyers who are not bonded. Insist on prompt payment. At central public markets you get paid the same day you sell. Packer and order buyers are required by the P & S to pay for livestock by the close of the next business day.

Spley Testimony

To sensation-seekers at the courthouse, this was the big day. A local politician was on trial for sedition, and the victim—a 16-year-old schoolgirl—was scheduled to take the witness stand and tell her story.

But the girl became so nervous about testifying in public that the judge ordered everyone except relatives and newspaper reporters out of the courtroom.

Later found guilty, the defendant appealed on the ground that he had not had a public trial. However, his appeal was denied. The court said clearing the courtroom was justified if that was the only way to get the girl's story.

Courts generally agree that a judge may exclude spectators if the modesty of a witness makes that necessary. But suppose the purpose is not to protect the witness but to protect the public? May a judge exclude spectators because he thinks the testimony might corrupt their morals?

Unless local law authorizes it, judges ordinarily do not have that power, no matter how lurid the testimony may be. Thus, in a rape case, the judge excluded spectators on the theory that their "only motive was to satisfy their morbid tastes."

But the court ruled that he had no right to that much privacy. "A crime is a public wrong," said the court. "The community is deeply interested in the administration of justice, and the presence of a jury at a trial is as basic as the presence of a defendant. The people have the right to know what is being done in their courts."

What Are Stereophones? Not many years ago, stereophones were almost unknown. At that time, the world of stereo was a familiar fact.

Now, stereophones are so popular for music listening at home that many manufacturers offer a wide variety of stereophones.

Stereophones bring the finest reproduction of music directly to your ears from the sound source, providing private, personal listening. This means you can enjoy music others and, at the same time, are not disturbed by other noises. They easily plug into headphones, which provide on-ear, private listening.

Other electronic home entertainment systems, allowing use of more than one home entertainment unit at a time. The concept of modern stereophones is that they start in 1958, when Koss Corporation used a prototype headset to demonstrate a dynamic stereo system.

Curiously, there was more interest in the headphones and the amplifiers than in the new product. Today, there is a stereo system set for every person's needs, ranging in cost from a few dollars to well over $100.

There are two major types—dynamic and electrostatic. Dynamic stereophones produce sound by passing a diaphragm through a magnetic field. The most popular one sells for $20 and up. The electrostatic type is a choice for professional recording as well as for home listening. Other dynamic stereophones start at $20, including one-earpiece models compatible with stereo and monaural music sources.

Electrostatic stereophones, hailed as an engineering breakthrough when Koss pioneered them in 1965, produce sound by means of a diaphragm being acted upon by an electrostatic field. They can reproduce all 10 decibels and are exceptional for their size. They are sold for $20 to $100.

And for the professional listener, there are professional studio monitors. These are sold for $100 to $1,000. They are designed to reproduce the full range of human hearing, from 20 to 20,000 cycles per second. They are used in recording studios and by audiophiles.

Scouts Pour Into County For Council-Wide Jamboree

During the past weekend over 2500 boy scouts from the New Orleans Area Council gathered at the Vee-Bar Scout Reservation in Hancock County for the first council-wide jamboree.

Friday, cars with scouts and parents from as far away as Grand Isle and Thibodaux, La., streaming through Bay St. Louis towards the new 1500-acre camp about 10 miles north of Kiln. On Saturday each troop demonstrated scouting woodcraft skills with the construction of rope bridges, signal towers, and demonstrations of map reading, fire building, and signaling. Several hundred visitors wandered through the campsites enjoying the scouts and their work.

Over 250 scouts from the Cypress District of the council, composed of Hancock County and St. Tammany Parish, enjoyed the Jamboree and many saw for the first time the fine start the Council has made in developing the 1.35 million dollar facility. Eventually the camp will serve as many as 12,500 scouts per summer as an excellent "wilderness" camp site.

On hand to greet the scouts and leaders were Dolph Kellar, Bully Zengarling, and Jimmy Travira, members of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors; and Sheriff Sylvan Ladner, whose deputies aided in directing the hundreds of cars to and from the reservation. Norton Haas, Sr., Chairman of the Scout Camp Development Fund for Hancock County, was present to view the progress being made on the camp. "The fund drive deserves the support of all interested in scouting, and is being used for the purchase and development of the camp," Haas commented.

KANSAS CITY, MO. — The popularity of rural property is continuing on the upswing, if the sales figures of one national real estate company are any indication.

United Farm Agency, Inc., which operates in 33 states, last year ran up an all-time sales high of $229,000,000. The firm specializes in the sale of farms, ranches, town and country homes, acreage, waterfront, recreational and business properties.

Norman C. McCain, above, president of the 47-year old organization, said the largest share of the 1971 volume was in farms and ranches, but added that "recreational and waterfront sales were a very significant factor." He said the company is forecasting a 20% increase this year, adding that United has set successive sales records each year since 1958.

The continuing growth in rural real estate sales, McCain said, is due to several factors: an ever-increasing population combined with a fixed land supply; the attractiveness of rural property as an investment; and "the simple fact that more and more people really do want the kind of change in surroundings offered by country living."

United Farm Agency, Inc., maintains national headquarters here, plus 18 regional service centers and 480 individual sales offices across the country.

BOY SCOUT TROOP 304 from St. Rose de Lima school in Bay St. Louis enjoy food cooked at the campsite.

Miss Flame Contestants Will Meet At Chamber

The date has been changed for Miss Flame contestants to meet with the Hancock County Fire Prevention Committee, according to George Cleary, Committee chairman.

The Committee will meet with contestants and their parents Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the Chamber of Commerce offices on Highway 90 near Main St.

At that time each of the seven Fire Departments in Hancock County will submit as a contestant a young lady between the ages of 12 and 18 to represent that unit in the final contest the last week of October.

Miss Flame for Hancock County will be chosen during the County Fair activity in October, and will be crowned in ceremonies at the Fair by Miss Sherrie Voss, Miss Flame for 1972.

All arrangements for the contest and related activities are being handled by Cleary and a committee composed of chiefs of the seven fire departments.

Cleary also stated that parents of contestants are welcomed to attend the meeting Wednesday night.

JUNIOR CLASS at Hancock North Central presented "They Run In Our Family" April 21 at the school's auditorium. The play was directed by Miss Nancy Favre.
